NEWS from Health Promotion Agency: Stop before you start"

The Health Promotion Agency have launched a new tobacco control campaign early October to reduce smoking initiation by young adults 17 to 20 years old, who are at risk of taking up smoking. At risk smokers are non-daily smokers who may be experimenting with smoking and find themselves in environments where smoking may be common.

This campaign is an extension to the previous Stop Before You Start campaign (2014-2017)

You'll be delighted to hear that the NSU has agreed to reprint the two resources that have been out of print some time as follows: Antenatal screening for Down Syndrome and other conditions. It is being printed in reasonably limited numbers and so you need to be fairly thrifty with usage as it may not be able to be printed again until the new financial year. Should be available in 2-3 weeks.
